

Inlays & Onlays

Porcelain inlays and onlays are used to offer protection for broken down or decayed teeth that require more than a traditional filling.

This type of restoration can actually strengthen your tooth ensuring that you can function effectively. They are often used to rebuild the back teeth, and because they are custom-made and cemented in place, they offer a long-lasting result with minimal risk of breakage or recurrent decay.

Made from porcelain, inlays or onlays are carefully fabricated by our specialist ceramist following our detailed instructions. This process ensures the best possible result when restoring your tooth to its full function.
